Lazy Guy Distillery is located in the heart of downtown Kennesaw, just northwest of Atlanta. Kennesaw has deep historical roots dating back to General Sherman's March to the Sea during the Civil War. Prominent for its railroad locomotive "The General" and its key location close to the capital of Georgia, Kennesaw is the perfect place to make whiskey, a practice that has been revered throughout American history. Lazy Guy Distillery was founded by a first generation distiller. Our spirits offer their own unique take on whiskey while remaining true to those who perfected the art of distilling this uniquely American whiskey. Capturing flavors that can only be found in Georgia grown grains and fruits Lazy Guy Distillery spirits offers a taste that is unmatched by others.

The two buildings which comprise our distillery operations are just around the corner from the Southern Museum of Civil War and Locomotive. Our office and distillery buildings date back to the 1800's and have a rich heritage themselves. These historic buildings have witnessed many changes over the decades, just as whiskey making in America has witnessed change. From the Whiskey Rebellion in the late 1700's to the Prohibition Era in the 1920's Whiskey has been the cornerstone of many American events and even served as a means of currency at certain points in history.

We are a first generation whiskey distillery using Georgia grown grains and fruits, but don't think we haven't done our homework. We've been refining our technique, recipes and distilling approach for quite a long time. For many years we've watched market trends in craft distilling and the explosion of the bourbon movement. We talk to whiskey drinkers and connect with what they want to see on the market as well as in our own product portfolio. True whiskey drinkers may have their favorite bourbon, rye or wheat whiskey but occasionally may try a white whiskey, high-proof white dog or sip a brandy. What we learn from all whiskey drinkers helps to develop our spirit portfolio and will continue to influence future offerings.
